

E-prescription

Service/Solution

The central e-prescription system enables medical personnel and pharmacies to monitor and manage the issuing of prescriptions. The system stores incoming prescriptions (messages) and sends patients' prescriptions on demand to a pharmacy's information system.

Benefits

- Doctors will spend significantly less time issuing prescriptions. They will get feedback as to whether the medication was actually bought by the patient. The system protects doctors from unforeseen costs related to inaccurate use of subsidies.
- Pharmacies will spend significantly less time filling prescriptions.
- Patients no longer have to worry about carrying a paper prescription or losing the prescription.
- The Estonian Health Insurance Fund will be provided with fast and accurate reporting.

References

The system is available for all doctors, pharmacies and patients in Estonia.

History, facts and future development

In the past, a doctor had to write a prescription manually on a paper form. In addition, the doctor had to compile a report indicating the number and type of prescriptions written. Patients brought the paper prescription to the pharmacy, where the pharmacist entered the prescription into the pharmacy's information system, and then prepared the medication.

With approximately eight million prescriptions issued each year, the e-prescription solution will save a significant amount of time for all parties. The majority of prescriptions will be issued digitally using the e-prescription solution.
